VOLUME 34 Annual Index

B

Baker, Joe G. See Craft, R. K.

Barbour, Jim. The teaching of undergraduate economics: A discussion list. 34 (1): 92.

Beckman, Steven R. Cournot and Bertrand games. 34 (1): 27–35.

Bodenhorn, Howard. Economic scholarship at elite liberal arts colleges: A citation analysis with rankings. 34 (4): 341–59.

Brown, Eleanor. Comment: An algebra-based complement to "Demonstrating the equivalence between two methods of measuring excess burden." 34 (1): 60.

C

Cahill, Miles B. Teaching chain-weight real GDP measures. 34 (3): 224–34.

Cahill, Miles B. Web supplement to "Teaching chain-weight real GDP measures." 34 (3): 295.

Caviglia-Harris, Jill L. Introducing undergraduates to economics in an interdisciplinary setting. 34 (3): 195–203.

Colander, David. Integrating sex and drugs into the principles course: Market-failures versus failures-of-market outcomes. 34 (1): 82–91.

Craft, R. Kim, and Joe G. Baker. Do economists make better lawyers? Undergraduate degree field and lawyer earnings. 34 (3): 263–81.

D

Dalziel, Paul, and Marc Lavoie. Teaching Keynes's principle of effective demand using the aggregate labor market diagram. 34 (4): 333–40.

DeLoach, Stephen B. See Steven A. Greenlaw.

Dickinson, David L. Illustrated examples of the effects of risk preferences. 34 (2): 169–80.

F

Freedman, Craig. Do great economists make great teachers? George Stigler as a dissertation supervisor. 34 (3): 282–90.

Fuller, Dan, and Doris Geide-Stevenson. Consensus Among Economists: Revisited. 34 (4): 369–87.

G

Geide-Stevenson, Doris. See Fuller, Dan.

Greenlaw, Steven A., and Stephen B. DeLoach. Teaching critical thinking with electronic discussion. 34 (1): 36–52.

H

Hazlett, Denise, and Cynthia D. Hill. Calculating the candy price index: A classroom inflation experiment. 34 (3): 214–23.

Hill, Cynthia D. See Hazlett, Denise.

Houser, Scott. See Leet, Don.

Hudson, John. See Laband, David.

J

Jensen, Elizabeth J., and Ann L. Owen. Appealing to good students in introductory economics. 34 (4): 299–325.

L

Laband, David, and John Hudson. The pricing of economics books. 34 (4): 360–68.

Lavoie, Marc. See Dalziel, Paul.

Leet, Don, and Scott Houser. Economics goes to Hollywood: Using classic films and documentaries to create an undergraduate economics course. 34 (4): 326–32.

Lypny, Gregory. A pilot study using an online, experimental two-asset market. 34 (3): 204–13.

M

Mixon, J. Wilson, Jr. See Tohamy, Soumaya.

N

Nævdal, Eric. Solving continuous-time optimal-control problems with a spreadsheet. 34 (2): 99–122.

VOLUME 34 Annual Index

B

Baker, Joe G. See Craft, R. K.

Barbour, Jim. The teaching of undergraduate economics: A discussion list. 34 (1): 92.

Beckman, Steven R. Cournot and Bertrand games. 34 (1): 27–35.

Bodenhorn, Howard. Economic scholarship at elite liberal arts colleges: A citation analysis with rankings. 34 (4): 341–59.

Brown, Eleanor. Comment: An algebra-based complement to "Demonstrating the equivalence between two methods of measuring excess burden." 34 (1): 60.

C

Cahill, Miles B. Teaching chain-weight real GDP measures. 34 (3): 224–34.

Cahill, Miles B. Web supplement to "Teaching chain-weight real GDP measures." 34 (3): 295.

Caviglia-Harris, Jill L. Introducing undergraduates to economics in an interdisciplinary setting. 34 (3): 195–203.

Colander, David. Integrating sex and drugs into the principles course: Market-failures versus failures-of-market outcomes. 34 (1): 82–91.

Craft, R. Kim, and Joe G. Baker. Do economists make better lawyers? Undergraduate degree field and lawyer earnings. 34 (3): 263–81.

D

Dalziel, Paul, and Marc Lavoie. Teaching Keynes's principle of effective demand using the aggregate labor market diagram. 34 (4): 333–40.

DeLoach, Stephen B. See Steven A. Greenlaw.

Dickinson, David L. Illustrated examples of the effects of risk preferences. 34 (2): 169–80.

F

Freedman, Craig. Do great economists make great teachers? George Stigler as a dissertation supervisor. 34 (3): 282–90.

Fuller, Dan, and Doris Geide-Stevenson. Consensus Among Economists: Revisited. 34 (4): 369–87.

G

Geide-Stevenson, Doris. See Fuller, Dan.

Greenlaw, Steven A., and Stephen B. DeLoach. Teaching critical thinking with electronic discussion. 34 (1): 36–52.

H

Hazlett, Denise, and Cynthia D. Hill. Calculating the candy price index: A classroom inflation experiment. 34 (3): 214–23.

Hill, Cynthia D. See Hazlett, Denise.

Houser, Scott. See Leet, Don.

Hudson, John. See Laband, David.

J

Jensen, Elizabeth J., and Ann L. Owen. Appealing to good students in introductory economics. 34 (4): 299–325.

L

Laband, David, and John Hudson. The pricing of economics books. 34 (4): 360–68.

Lavoie, Marc. See Dalziel, Paul.

Leet, Don, and Scott Houser. Economics goes to Hollywood: Using classic films and documentaries to create an undergraduate economics course. 34 (4): 326–32.

Lypny, Gregory. A pilot study using an online, experimental two-asset market. 34 (3): 204–13.

M

Mixon, J. Wilson, Jr. See Tohamy, Soumaya.

N

Nævdal, Eric. Solving continuous-time optimal-control problems with a spreadsheet. 34 (2): 99–122.

O

Ortmann, Andreas. Bertrand price undercutting: A brief classroom demonstration. 34 (1): 21–26.

Owen, Ann L. See Jensen, Elizabeth J.

P

Pingle, Mark. Introducing dynamic analysis using Malthus's principle of population. 34 (1): 3–20.

R

Ruffle, Bradley J. Competitive equilibrium and classroom pit markets. 34 (2): 123–37.

Rycroft, Robert. The Lorenz curve and the Gini coefficient. 34 (3): 296.

S

Schenk, Robert. CyberEconomics. 34 (2): 191.

Schmidt, Stephen J. Active and cooperative learning using Web-based simulations. 34 (2): 151–67.

Shore, Mikhael. Gametheory .net. 34 (4): 385.

Siegfried, John J. Trends in undergraduate economics degrees, 1991 to 2002. 34 (3): 291–94

Smith, Stefani C., and Andrew J. Yates. Should consumers be priced out of pollution-permit markets? 34 (2): 181–89.

T

Tohamy, Soumaya M., and J. Wilson Mixon Jr. Lessons from the specific factors model of international trade. 34 (2): 139–50.

Trandel, Gregory A. Demonstrating the equivalence between two methods of measuring excess burden. 34 (1): 54–59.

V

Valdés, Benigno. An application of convergence theory to Japan's post-WWII economic "miracle." 34 (1): 61–81.

Vanssay, Xavier de. See Dennis Yanchus.

W

Weerapana, Akila. Intermediate macroeconomics without the IS-LM model. 34 (3): 241–62.

Y

Yanchus, Dennis, and Xavier de Vanssay. The myth of fair prices: A graphical analysis. 34 (3): 235–40.

Yates, Andrew J. See Smith, Stefani C.

Virtual Economics 2.0

The acclaimed interactive CD-ROM resource for economic educators

★ Indispensable comprehensive teacher training tool for K-12 cross-curricular instruction
★ Inviting, accessible, fun to use. 3-dimensional interactive gallery provides complete introduction to basic economic concepts
★ Appropriate for designing teacher training seminars, pre-college curricula, and introductory college-level economics courses
★ Puts the new Voluntary National Content Standards in Economics to work
★ 30,000 page printable library includes professional references, data sets, lesson plans, and context-based student activities and worksheets

For single station ($74.95) or network usage ($149.95) PC and Mac compatible
AVAILABLE FROM THE NATIONAL COUNCIL ON ECONOMIC EDUCATION

For further information or to order, call 1-800-338-1192, ext. 763

National Council on Economic Education